The Balanced Portfolio risks included: Interest Rate Risk, Credit Risk and Market Risk. Under normal market conditions, interest rate risk, is the risk that bond prices will decline when interest rates rise. This decline in prices will reduce the value of the fund and could reduce the value below the investor's cost. Credit Risk, is the risk that a bond issuer may fall afoul of any of the debt covenants' imposed by the bond holders; or, the bond issuer being unable to meet the principal or interest payments under the bond. Market Risk, is the risk that some of the investments in the fund will decrease in value below the investor's cost due to general market conditions. Diversification may not protect against market risk or loss of principal.
